

Disaster Ready: A workshop for community services

Community services who support vulnerable people are invited to attend a workshop on planning for emergencies

This workshop will provide you with strategies, support and information to better prepare your organisation for emergencies such as bushfires, floods, storms and man-made events. This workshop will be facilitated by Australian Red Cross and emergency services and is a unique opportunity to draw upon their expertise and further develop your emergency plans.

This workshop will provide your organisation with tools to:

- Make good decisions during a range of emergency scenarios
- Act during an emergency without relying on emergency services
- Feel confident you can keep staff, volunteers and service users safe in an emergency
- Engage staff, volunteers, service users and their families in emergency planning
